Making it Happen

With a passion for creativity and a commitment to quality, kitestring creative marketing + communications offers a total solution to its clients.

Based in Hamilton, kitestring is a small firm that has the in-house capabilities to handle all creative elements. From brand and logo development, print design, website development – and everything in between, kitestring works closely with clients with an entrepreneurial spirit and a desire to grow their business by establishing programs to fit their needs through creative strategies and infusing only the highest level of creative design into their marketing tool-box.

As a new business, kitestring accessed many of the resources provided by the Hamilton Small Business Enterprise Centre (SBEC). The SBEC's expertise and programs were instrumental in launching kitestring's business and positioning kitestring for continued growth as they enter their second year of operations.
